

“The impact of crime isn’t stagnant. It continues to change as the shock wears off and the reality of finality sinks slowly in.”

Survivor Voices

---

Elevate. Engage. Effect Change.

National Crime Victims’ Rights Week

April 23–29, 2023

“For eleven and a half years, I have waited for an outcome, a resolution, accountability. Now that the trial has concluded, the assumption is that I will know closure. For me, true closure is, and always will be unattainable.”

Survivor Voices

---

Elevate. Engage. Effect Change.

National Crime Victims' Rights Week

April 23–29, 2023

“Sometimes I’m fine but other times the strangest things trigger fear and anxiety. When I hear anyone shouting, for any reason, I am anxious and want to get to some place safe.”

Survivor Voices

---

Elevate. Engage. Effect Change.

National Crime Victims’ Rights Week

April 23–29, 2023

“The items that were taken can be replaced, but the loss of feeling safe in once home can never be replaced.”

Survivor Voices

---

Elevate. Engage. Effect Change.

National Crime Victims' Rights Week

April 23–29, 2023

“Ang takot at pangamba ko ay nandito pa rin sa aking kalooban. May mga gabi na nababangungot ako tuwing naalala ko ang pangyayari. Pilit ko mang limutin pero mahirap iwaksi.”

Survivor Voices

Elevate. Engage. Effect Change.

National Crime Victims' Rights Week

April 23–29, 2023

“I guess that when you experience something like this you fear that when you have a daughter the same might happen. You become too overprotective of those you love as a result.”

Survivor Voices

Elevate. Engage. Effect Change.

National Crime Victims' Rights Week

April 23–29, 2023

“If anyone hearing this statement cannot relate to me, I ask that you try and put yourselves in my position. Almost everyone in this room may have a friend, a daughter, a relative, a wife or a romantic partner who they can think of when referring to this case. Whichever sentencing you decide on will certainly not make the past disappear, but I hope that the defendant is held accountable and will understand that there are consequences to his actions.”

Survivor Voices

Elevate. Engage. Effect Change.

National Crime Victims' Rights Week

April 23–29, 2023

“Quiero una vida mejor para mis hijos.”

Survivor Voices

Elevate. Engage. Effect Change.

National Crime Victims' Rights Week

April 23–29, 2023