- 1. Recruitment, hiring, and support (payroll, purchasing, human resources, evaluation and promotion, professional development) for of a Human-Wildlife Interaction Cooperative Extension Advisor, seated in San Mateo County with service to San Mateo, Santa Clara, Santa Cruz, Alameda, Contra Costa, Marin, and Sonoma Counties.

The Position: UC ANR will recruit and hire a Cooperative Extension (CE) Advisor to serve as an expert on wildlife species that impact or are impacted by human activities in Northern California, with emphasis in the San Francisco Bay Area where urban and rural communities and landscapes overlap. This CE Advisor will be at the nexus of livestock operators, land managers, scientists, wildlife advocates, and the public, and help facilitate productive understanding between groups sometimes at odds regarding wildlife management. This applied context is a specialized field combining wildlife biology, management, and conservation; environmental studies; rangeland science; and coupled socio-ecological systems. This program will draw from social, political, and ecological knowledge to develop best management practices, as well as inform relevant public policy and legislation, specific to carnivores (e.g. mountain lions, coyotes, etc.) and other vertebrates (e.g. ground squirrels).

Position Appointment: Recruitment of the position will not occur until this Agreement has been signed and the initial payment is committed to the University of California as part of the County annual budget process. The search shall be conducted in accordance with University of California and ANR policies and practice. Should the CE Wild Life Management-Human-Wild Life Interactions Advisor position holder leave the position prior to the three-year term, ANR and the County will discuss options, including whether a search will be conducted to fill the position for the remainder of the term, development of a new agreement with new timelines and terms that are reflective of the current situation, and discontinuation of the partnership.

- 2. Development and delivery of a research-based outreach program to reduce human-wildlife conflict in the San Francisco Bay area with primary research and extension activity in San Mateo County.

Primary activities:

- The CE Advisor will establish collaborations with local stakeholders across a spectrum of issues addressing human-wildlife conflicts in natural resource areas, specifically rangeland and open space parklands with a focus on predator, ungulate, and rodent.
- The CE Advisor will conduct applied field and lab research designed to develop management tools and inform policy for mitigating human-wildlife conflict, including tools and policies that mitigate human-wildlife conflict issues while minimally impacting the natural environment.
- The CE Advisor will conduct independent and collaborative applied research on carnivore ecology and livestock behavior with respect to minimizing conflict between the two, focusing efforts on the design of depredation prevention tools; creating extension opportunities; and technical assistance in implementing preventative methods and practices.
- Key to the position is the development of extension outreach methodologies that lead to adoption of practices that reduce the risks from vertebrate pests and pest management practices to natural resource managers, ranchers, our food supply, community, and the environment.

- The CE Advisor will create and deliver programs and provide consultations and technical assistance in response to requests. Organizations through which the CE Advisor will conduct activities include: regional and county UCCE and Farm Bureau offices, producer and community organizations, the Central Coast Rangeland Coalition (CCRC), the Society for Range Management, etc. The Advisor will evaluate tool and extension efficacy via interactive community forums with practitioners, email surveys, and targeted interviews, and will tailor activities to meet local demands.
- The CE Advisor will disseminate research findings in peer-reviewed journals, Cal Ag articles, technical reports and guides, newsletters, online posting, and blogs as well as create written updates and reports accessible to a wide variety of audiences.

Program Priorities and Goals: For the purpose of identifying relevant issues and establishing program goals in alignment with county and community needs, the CE Wild Life Management-Human-Wild Life Interactions Advisor position-holder shall seek the recommendations of the San Mateo County Agricultural Commissioner.

3. Extension of the Agreement

The continuation of the Human-Wild Life Interactions CE Advisor position beyond the term is contingent upon the agreement of both parties, in writing, to continue funding the position at the amount shown in Exhibit B or an amount to be determined by mutual agreement. Prior to the end of the three-year term, ANR and the County will discuss renewing the agreement for the CE Wild Life Management-Human-Wild Life Interactions Advisor position. If both parties agree to renew the contract, a new term date and pledge schedule will be established under the new agreement and shall be executed once signed by both parties.

Exhibit B

In consideration of the services provided by Contractor described in Exhibit A and subject to the terms of the Agreement, County shall pay Contractor based on the following fee schedule and terms:

Contractor shall bill County on an annual basis for equal payments of $72,000 in the beginning of each fiscal year, for an amount not to exceed $216,000 for the full term of the contract (July 1, 2019 through June 30, 2022).

Payments will be issued to the Contractor in accordance with the following payment schedule:

$72,000 – July 2019

$72,000 – July 2020
